Hans-

I'm sorry if there is some confusion. As a general practice, Legal doesn't write policy documents unless it's a legal policy, and that's not the case here. If it's to be a Quality System document, we are part of the review process once the business drafts and the QSIC review takes place.

That said, we're available to review a draft prior to it being submitted to QSIC. As you note, the practices are basically embodied in the contracts, so it's basically "cutting and pasting." You all could pull out the relevant generic portions from the Covance or MDS drafts, including the review of government issued id (in the protocol of prior agmts.) Pls. let us know if you need electronic versions of anything.

We can discuss if you like. I know Chris is meeting w/ Loreen tomorrow, and perhaps they can resolve.

Dear Kevin,

I thought we had agreed on that matter some weeks ago in the meeting with Judy Smith that legal would put together a policy document, which would cover all the basics we have included into the MDS master contract. I need this as part of my quality system for the future.

Jan's work is so much different from ours that her document will not cover enough for our research.

Perhaps you may reconsider your decision.

Best regards

Hans

Hans-

Re your 2nd q, we are not drafting. Further to our meeting, Jan Angel is in the process of pulling together current consumer research practices, and then I assume you and Loreen would add to this. To expedite, you may want to consider contacting her and adding to her draft.

We will of course be involved in the review process and will make every effort to turn around quickly once we receive.

Hans/Loreen:

Pls. See the draft of the agreement + related questions. I also assume that you are planning on having Covance take a first look @ drafting the project agreements as we discussed before the holidays?

<< File: VA_617050_2.DOC >> << File: VA_617058_4.DOC >>

I will get back to you on the policy question.

Chris

p.s.-- any comments on the note concerning MDS I sent to you last week?

Dear Chris,
where are we standing with the Covance contract?
And where are we standing with the policy for human studies?
Best regards
Hans
